Will Vote On Frankfort School Bonds April 8

Residents of Frankfort will go to the polls Saturday, April 8, to decide a bond referendum of $145,000 for a five room addition to the present Frankfort grade school.

This was decided Monday night when the school board met with William J. Scheidmantel of Downers Grove who has been selected as the architect.

Several weeks ago the school board met with state officials to get an opinion on whether Frankfort needed a new school or a new addition. The officials agreed that at the present rate of growth, a five classroom addition would take care of present needs, Principal Leroy Wright pointed out that overcrowded conditions in the fourth grade room could bring serious consequences if the condition is not alleviated soon.

Scheidmantel showed the board the architect's drawing and floor plan of the proposed addition. The addition will have 8,800 square feet or an overall area of 9,400 feet which includes a canopy joining the old structure to the new building at the gymnasium.

The addition, which will be located along Oregon St., consists of a kindergarten room, 30 by 35 feet; first, second and third grade rooms and a large multi-purpose room. The multi-purpose room can be used for band, visual-aids and many other uses. When the need arises, it is so constructed that a participant can be erected making two normal sized classrooms. Also in the addition are new quarters for the principal, clerical help, a teacher's work room and book storage room. It was pointed out that a speech correctionist could be utilized in the principal's old quarters.

There will be an entry from the west to both the old structure and the new building. Each new classroom will have a counter and sink. The kindergarten room will have its own toilet rooms and exit to the outside.

Board members went before the PTA meeting Tuesday night and displayed the architect's sketches, orientating those attending with the available facts and figures. Literature will be circulated among Frankfort residents in the near future explaining the broken down costs and what each taxpayer will pay according to the valuation of his property.

Scherrill W. Weichbrodt was hired to serve as the board's attorney. His first task will be to begin putting the legal preparations in order for the bond referendum.

Prior to the discussion with Scheidmantel, a committee composed of three teachers met with board members in a closed session to talk about a raise in the salary schedule. The committee presented the board with a proposed salary schedule which is being taken under consideration by the members.

Other old business was reviewed and board members voted to pay routine bills.

Smoke From Grass Fire Causes Auto-Truck Crash

Poor visibility on Route 30, near the intersection of Wolf Road, resulting from a wind-swept grass fire, caused a head-on collision, resulting in injury to three persons last Friday noon.

Admitted to Silver Cross hospital were Arthur C. Geuther, 76 and his wife, Lotria, 71, of 218 Cemetery road, Frankfort. They suffered abrasions and minor cuts and admitted for observation.

The driver of one of the vehicles involved in the crash, Bernard T. Wilda, 36, of 16 Cherry Hill Road, was released from the hospital following treatment.

Wilda, plant superintendent for the "Dad and Lad" company at New Lenox, was west-bound on Route 30 when the truck he was operating was struck head-on by an auto driven by Geuther, it was reported. Under questioning by State Trooper James Brockman, Geuther stated he was eastbound on the highway when his vision was clouded by the heavy smoke from the grass fire. His auto crossed the center line and collided with the truck.

Trooper Brockman said visibility "zero" on the highway. The Frankfort fire department was extinguishing the fast-spreading grass fire when the accident occurred.

Geuther was ticketed for "Failure to have driver's license and improper lane usage". Aiding Brockman in the investigation was Trooper Joseph Egan.

The driver may claim the bit by calling at the Frankfort police station.

Death Takes D.R. Gougar, Member Of Pioneer Family

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Davis R. Gougar, 65, of 302 Maple st., New Lenox, member of one of the pioneer families of New Lenox township.

Rites were conducted at the Sonntag, Burgess and Wylie chapel, Joliet, with the Rev. Alfred Hunter, pastor of the New Lenox Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery, Joliet.

Mr. Gougar was born Nov. 25, 1895 in the family homestead north of U.S. 30 and just west of Gougar rd., son of Louis F. and Gertrude Richards Gougar. He farmed there until he retired several years ago.

A past president and past secretary of the Will County Farm Bureau, Mr. Gougar also served on the board of education of old Gougar school, which like the road, was named after the family. He was a member of Mt. Joliet Lodge, No. 42, A.F. and A.M.

Davis R. Gougar is survived by his widow, Inez, and two sisters, Mr. W.E. (Mary) Allen and Miss Elizabeth J. Gougar, of Joliet.

The Gougar family settled in New Lenox township in 1830 buying out a claim that had been held by the William Rice family. There was a log cabin on the place and John Gougar came there to live in 1830. His father, William, Sr., joined in the following year. The Gougars came originally from Pennsylvania but had resided in Indiana before coming to New Lenox township.

The first postoffice, not only in New Lenox township, but in Will county, was established in the Gougar home altho C.C. VanHorne was the postmaster. In 1832 the postoffice was moved to Joliet.

Demos Offer Only Local JP Candidate

Voters who go to the polls April 4 will receive two ballots. One will deal with the township offices. The other ballot will carry the names of candidates for justices of the peace and constables.

In the past JPs and constables were township officials. Under the new law in force this year they have become county officials. The counties will pay the salaries of the JPs. The constables will still be paid out of fees but since they are a part of the justice of peace courts set-up they too come under county jurisdiction in the election.

Seven JPs and seven constables are to be elected in Will county on April 4 and the county has been divided into districts for their election. New Lenox and Frankfort townships have been included with Joliet and Troy townships to form District 2. Three JPs and three constables will be elected in District 2.

The JPs and constables running on the Republican ticket are all from Joliet. Two or three candidates for justice of the peace on the Republican ticket are incumbents, Anthony Makay and George Williams. The other is Walter (Bus) McKay, who was chief deputy when Roy Doerfler was sheriff.

The Republicans chose their candidates at a primary. At the time it was set up, according to political observers, it was believed that two of the candidates nominated would be from Joliet and one from the New Lenox - Frankfort area. With all of the Republican candidates from Joliet and one of the Democrat candidates from the area--George Sangmeister who lives in Mokena and has a law office at Frankfort--observers are wondering what will happen. The other two Democrat candidates are Robert Buchar and William Bossingham, Joliet attorneys. The Democrats chose their candidates at a caucus of committee-men.

Observers point out that the Democrats can poll more votes in Joliet township than the Republicans and add that if Sangmeister gets a good vote in Joliet and picks up a good share of the normally Republican vote in New Lenox and Frankfort township on the strength that he is a local man, he could be elected. The vote is about even in Troy township on a party basis.

The town elections in New Lenox and Frankfort townships are not being conducted on major party lines.

Discusses School Problems--Mechanically Speaking

(Editor's Note: Growth of enrollments in schools these days not only demands an expansion of the plants themselves and additions to faculties and clerical staffs but it also entails an endless amount of paper work.)

"You can't tell the players without a score card," we are told by the hawkers of such devices as we enter a major league baseball park. One can also say that one can't run a business branch of government or a school today without the proper paper forms to be filled out.

Supt. W. O. Fisher has written an article dealing with mechanics now necessary to operate a school and we are glad to reproduce it here because it should be of interest to the public, especially those mechanically inclined.

In Orland Park, Illinois, among rolling woodlands 24 miles southwest of Chicago's loop, Carl Sandburg high was a comparatively small school when it first held classes in 1954. The six suburban communities which we serve, however, are experiencing a growth of boom proportions, sending us 879 students in 1957, 1029 in 1958 and 1200 in 1959, and in 1960 some 1400.

Enrollment has doubled in four years, and the school board foresees the need to accommodate 6,000 students by 1970. We are using a new school addition that includes 20 new classrooms, a second gymnasium, metal and electrical shops, an administration wing and music department, as well as a magnificent swimming pool. An additional 40 acres have been set aside for a second high school that will be needed by 1963, and a third separate facility projected for 1970.

Keeping abreast of this kind of growth -- and the endless paperwork that goes with it -- has taken all the time and attention that our staff could give to it. During the summer of 1957 our new machine accounting equipment helped us finish 1959's summer scheduling by July 15. This freed considerable time for the more important work of planning an counseling--valuable time formerly lost to repetitive manual recording, sorting, collating and transcribing.

Increased enrollment should result in actual money savings later on as the equipment is used at fuller capacity.

Our Remington Rand system requires that we have only two machines in our office--a punch and counting sorter. Everything else is done at the UNIVAC Service Center in Chicago, where we pay only for the machine time needed to handle our job.

The process begins with registration. Each student fills out, with the aid of a counselor, a student registration card. By means of a "robot" at the Service Center this one card does the work formerly requiring as many as eight separate pieces of paper for each student.

The robot -- a multicontrol reproducer -- "explodes" each registration on card into individual class and grade cards, making four copies of each card--one for each student, counselor or teacher, school office, and the Service Center file. In succeeding periods, the grade cards will list each student's grades to date, his attendance record, classroom number, code number, class standing and averages to date, plus his accumulated credits.

Returned to the school usually within one or two days--three days at the most--these facts are quickly available not only for overall survey but also for spotting isolated trouble spots. Attention can be given more quickly, for example, to students who appear to be falling behind in class standings or in individual subjects.

The Service Center also makes up a complete list of parents' names and addresses and prints them on the portion of the detachable card that is mailed at grading time to parents by the school office. This frees the office of the necessity of readdressing more than a thousand envelopes at each grading period.

We also get a master class list that shows the makeup of each room number by periods listing the names of the students in each room, and how each room is being used. In addition a room usage list, printed from the same information, shows up unused rooms by periods.

At the end of each term, the same registration cards are used to produce a status report, listing each student by rank and by class year.

The effect of mechanization in each case is to put more information into more hands more quickly. Supervisors and teachers can now learn, in minutes or an hour or two at most, vital classroom and student information that used to require days or weeks to collect and tabulate manually. Conflicts in scheduling classes are much more easily overcome.

By keeping attendance records on punched cards, teachers are relieved of much of the paperwork involved in manually recording daily attendance. When a student is absent, his card is merely forwarded to the office where all attendance is tabulated for each day. Within minutes, the office has a record of the day's attendance. The cards are then returned to the appropriate classrooms. At the end of the year, the Service Bureau can provide us with a complete attendance list by room number and by class, for the previous term.

Machine accounting has enabled us to gain a step or two on one of the most remarkable growth situations in the Chicago area. It has enabled teachers, counselors, and supervisors to shift their attention from the mountain of paperwork that once confronted them to their primary functions of teaching, counseling, and planning.

An Unidentified Hero

We should like to pay tribute to the unidentified motorist whose alertness averted what could have been a terrible tragedy on Tuesday night of last week.

But for his timely action the 45 Bloom township high school students and two faculty members who were enroute to the regional basketball tournament at Joliet would either have perished or possibly maimed for life in the explosion and fire that destroyed the bus in which they were traveling.

It was fortunate for the occupants of the vehicle that the motorists following it could correctly interpret what he saw -- an exhaust pipe and muffler hanging down on the pavement, a leaking gas line and sparks and flame coming out of the manifold.

With his horn blaring he pulled up alongside the bus and crowded it to a halt at considerable risk to his own neck. He informed the driver, who incidentally is also a teacher, of the situation and aided him and the other faculty member in getting the students out of the bus and into the clear.

Only a few moments after the bus had been emptied there was an explosion and the vehicle burst into flames.

What would have been a tragedy became an exciting experience.

Police and firemen arrived at the scene within a few minutes and occupants from cars that had halted along the highway soon formed a crowd. The motorist who had halted the bus and helped with its evacuation modestly faded into the background and resumed his journey.

Whether anyone asked him for his name is not known. Probably in the excitement no one thought of it. Certainly he didn't identify himself.

Providence was good in having a man following the bus who was intelligent and having correctly diagnosed the situation provided the remedy.

The students and faculty members aboard the bus and their families owe a great debt to an unidentified man who came along at just the right time.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN
Spring is officially just around the corner but one hesitates to speak of it for fear that the word may have a perverse effect upon those in charge of the weather and gales, blizzards, torrential rains and tornadoes may be dished out in lavish fashion.

According to the almanac Spring will trip onto the weather stage in this region at exactly 2:32 p.m., central standard time, on Monday, March 20.

It is to be hoped that she will not find her entrance blocked by snow drifts. Better that Spring should fall on her face in a mud puddle than to slip on the ice and take a header into a snowbank.

Why one living in these latitudes should write about spring at this early date is difficult to explain. It is customary but it also is silly and downright overly optimistic.

The late Fred Story always said that the danger of a killing frost in these parts was not past until May 15 and since he had planted everything there was to plant from farm crops to flowers for 60 years one could treat his observation as fact.

Oh sure, the grass will get green and the trees bud out; birds will sing and soft breezes blow. But don't trust 'em. If you do you will just be building up for an awful let-down.

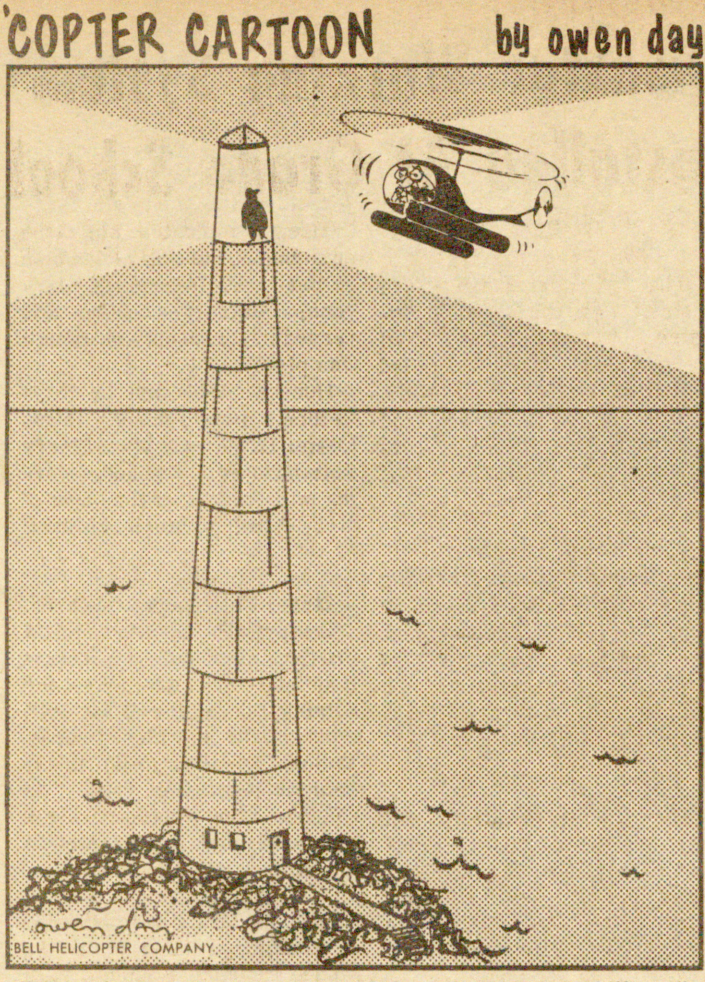

If there are no snows in March and April this year just be thankful. A snowless March and April would serve as a conversation piece for a long time to come as well as to date the period as "The Spring It Didn't Snow."

The only trouble with things like that is that while one may remember it didn't snow he will have forgotten the year. On the other hand such a situation can provide an endless source of material for debate. You know how those things go:

"I know it was (here give the year of your choice) because . . ." and then you can list your reasons.

Then the other person can give the year as he remembers it and no doubt he will have a long list of because too, and so it goes.

This department remembers a spring when it snowed in this area in May -- now was it May 5--no it was on a May 5 that your correspondent was caught in a near blizzard in the Black Hills with a team and an open wagon and no coat except for an overall jacket--maybe it was May 7 or was the 8th now that it snowed enough to cover the ground in the area but what year it was other than The Year It Snowed in May is something this corner can't tell you.

March came in like a lamb this year but on the second day the lambs bleats changed into a lion's roar as the wind gathered momentum and came sweeping in from the west to bang doors and windows and lash trees to a frenzy.

One can expect a lot of wind in the spring. Just hope it isn't accompanied by sleet or snow.

There was a time when spring meant sulphur and molasses as a sort of toner-upper and people who had been eating canned vegetables all fall and winter looked forward to the season when the dandelions or poke pushed up tender leaves that could be eaten as a salad or boiled with sidemeat into a mess of greens. Nowadays vitamins have replaced the sulphur and molasses and one can have fresh vegetables the year around and prices seem to be practically the same, regardless of the season.

Spring is a great transition period . . . Eventually the lawnmower supplants the snow shovel . . . golf or softball takes the place of bowling--oh, there are persons who bowl all summer but the league bowlers knock off in the spring and turn to other forms of recreation . . .

back beer makes a brief appearance . . . pretty soon--too soon in some instances--people will begin sending winter clothing off to be cleaned and packed so it will be ready for the late fall . . . robins will be coming back or out of hiding and the other birds who go away for the winter will return . . . ducks and geese will be heard going north. basketball will give place to baseball . . . sportsmen will turn from hunting to fishing and already are looking over rods, reels and lines to make sure everything is in readiness. . . . poker games will be transferred from rumpus rooms or kitchens to summer cottages . . . spring colds will replace winter colds and in turn will be followed by summer colds . . . spring is a pleasant season, theoretically speaking, and it actually is in some sections . . . in the Ozarks, for instance, spring is delightful with blue skies and balmy air, with the trees in leaf and flowers blooming. . . . lazy, languid, rocking-chair sort of season. . . . but her in the north, well, if one can afford it there is just one way to enjoy spring . . . go to Florida, Arizona or the Bahamas.

Meanwhile, keep the overcoat and golashes close at hand.

Department stores report sharp sales increases and starts in home building, are increasing. This especially true in the east, milder weather aided this factor.

The labor departments index of industrial raw material prices, ended the week of Feb. 21, at highest level since last fall. Public construction (buildings, roads, etc.) was up 22 per cent in first eight weeks of the year.

It is expected that government aid to public school construction and also to college building programs, will be authorized by congress. This will add substantially to grants already being given state and local governments, for road building, etc. Such grants now are about $7 billion per year as against the 1953 figure of about $2.8 billion.

The added aid to state and local construction plans, is also being given a further lift by lower interest on tax exempt borrowings. It has been some time since bonds could be sold as advantageously.

The total of federal and local spending is now very large and adds an assurance of substantial spending outside of industry activity of its own.

In addition to grants, the federal government is lending under the education plans, large sums at interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent and maturities up to 50 years. It would be difficult to equal such terms on open market borrowings.

As is usual in any change of direction of the securities markets, opinions of leaders in financial circles is sought.

The most consistent query seems to be as to the likely government spending. Replies express a belief in further erosion of the dollar, but not as cost, when corn is priced at $1 and the soybeans at $2.20 a bushel. Changes in yields or prices from these levels tend to shift the net income balance in favor of either corn or soybeans.

Check now on repairs needed to put machinery and equipment into proper condition for spring work. Some companies have more models or have changed the location of their parts depots. Therefore, last-minute orders may involve delay and additional cost.

Before the spring rush starts, see that all fuel storage tanks and tractor and power unit fuel tanks are free of moisture, gum and rust.

Steel production and inventory figures are being watched carefully. Use of raw steel in manufacture, has recently been at considerably higher rate than inventory replacement. About one fifth of steel distribution is thru what are known as steel-service centers. Robert G. Welch, vice president of Steel Service Center Institute, reports that the service center organizations have been stepping up their mill orders at the highest rate in many months.

Inventories of these service centers were generally low and orders were being placed to bring about inventory replacement to levels consistent with the same time, industry orders received at the centers, have been picking up. Steel shipments in January rose 10 per cent over the November - December average.

Obviously, the above suggests that production and inventories had fallen too far on the basis of fabricating needs.

Hints For Homeowners

Recently it has been reported that various cures have been found for Dutch Elm disease. Unfortunately, these reports are not based on fact. Several promising materials are being tested by experiment stations throughout the U. S.

The process of evaluation requires laboratory testing of the materials on the fungus. Materials which prevent growth of the fungus are tried on trees to see if the trees will absorb the material in sufficient quantities without damaging the tree. No material has successfully passed this rigorous test.

Lay persons in various parts of the country have claimed that trees treated with various chemicals have been cured. However, these persons have failed to show that the trees were actually infected with Dutch elm disease before treatment.

Even with sufficient evidence that the tree was actually infected and survived after treatment, this fact could be attributed as positively to chance as to the treatment. Single cases of cure are not sufficient evidence.

much as is sometimes seen in casual predictions of the news columns.

The majority of institutional investors have substantial sums for investment at year end. These investors usually are interested in the long term situation rather than short term swings of the market.

Some of the better known analysts are suggesting caution in purchase of the popular favorites which might be classed as speculative.

The integrated better known oil situations are obviously attracting large investors at this time.

dance on which to base recommendations. Until a sure cure is found, the best way to protect elm trees is with proper sanitation measures (prompt removal of dead or dying elms) and an intelligent preventative spray program.

The recommended spray is a 6% DDT emulsion applied before the buds swell in spring. The small twigs must be thoroughly covered. Once the leaves come out the possibility of covering the small branches is reduced. Summer sprays are of little, if any value and are not recommended.

Much publicity about Dutch elm disease and lack of proper information make the home owner easy prey for unscrupulous "Tree experts" with quick cures or for tree removal crews looking for a quick buck.

Do not buy any quick cures for Dutch Elm Disease. Do not cut down an elm tree not shown by laboratory analysis to be infected with Dutch Elm Disease.

When in doubt, call on established, reliable nurserymen or your County Farm Adviser's office.

cannot hope to understand it, but like the blessedly good parent He is, our heavenly Father assures us that, seeking forgiveness and fellowship, we belong to His household of faith. There we can be at home with Him.

PRAYER: Eternal Father, we thank Thee that in Thy wisdom Thou hast placed the solitary in families, and that Thy loving-kindness provides for our every need, comfort, and counsel. Guide us as we go through the growing pains of becoming mature members of Thy family, in Jesus' name, Amen.

The Chicago Heights Kiwanis club, through an invitation from George Angus, had an opportunity to hear about 4-H club work from 4-H member Linda Johnson of Richton Park. The program was held in observance of National 4-H Club Week.

Corn yields of about 90 bushels an acre or soybean yields of 35 bushels an acre bring the average farmer about the same income, over his direct cash cost, when corn is priced at $1 and the soybeans at $2.20 a bushel. Changes in yields or prices from these levels tend to shift the net income balance in favor of either corn or soybeans.

Check now on repairs needed to put machinery and equipment into proper condition for spring work. Some companies have more models or have changed the location of their parts depots. Therefore, last-minute orders may involve delay and additional cost.

Before the spring rush starts, see that all fuel storage tanks and tractor and power unit fuel tanks are free of moisture, gum and rust.

WHEREAS, this President and Board of Trustees has received a firm offer for the purchase of said bonds from Benjamin and Lang, Incorporated, of Chicago, Illinois, at a price of par and accrued interest, and it is now desirable and necessary for this Board to provide for the issue of said bonds;

Section 1. That there be borrowed by and for and on behalf of said Village the principal sum of $100,000 for the purpose of paying part of the cost of constructing improvements and extensions to the sanitary sewer system in said Village as hereinafter recited in the preamble of this ordinance. That to evidence said loan negotiable interest coupon bonds of said Village be issued in the principal amount of $100,000. Said bonds shall be designated "Sewer Bonds", shall be dated March 1, 1961, be numbered from 1 through 100, of $1,000 denomination, and shall mature serially on January 1 in each of the years and in amounts as follows:

Bloom Nips L-W In Regional Final

Knights Lose Heartbreaker, 56-55, In Sectional Bid

BY BILL SLUIS

The Lincoln-Way Knights, after battling their way to the final game of the Joliet Regional tournament with successive victories over Lockport and Homewood-Flossmoor, were overcome by the Bloom Trojans in a 56-55 heartbreaker Friday night. Some 5500 fans in the Joliet Township gymnasium saw the Knights battle to within a hair's breadth of going to the sectional tourney at Blue Island. The victorious Trojans were scheduled to battle Clifton Central in the Wednesday edition of sectional action.

Lincoln-Way won its first regional victory in the school's history Wednesday night by overcoming the Lockport Porters 64-46. Skip Kruzich's 22 points spearheaded the L-W attack, netting eight buckets in the first half for nine shots. Duane Warning added 17 for the Knights while Porter center Rich Acuff clinched 14 marks. Other first round victories went to Bloom, Grant Park, and Homewood-Flossmoor, who beat Rich, Joliet Township, and Joliet Catholic, respectively.

The semi-final round took place Thursday night. The first game pitted Bloom against Grant Park's Dragons. The Trojans staved off a second half rally to beat G.P. 67-61. The "grudge game" took place at 8:30, when co-champions Lincoln-Way and Homewood-Flossmoor staged a rematch of their earlier Southwest Suburban conference struggles. Each team had lost on the opponent's court in overtime games during the season, and each was hoping to "prove itself".

Disaster struck the Knights in the first quarter as the Vikes moved ahead early for a 10-3 advantage. Ed Didrickson scored six and Homewood still led 11-7 at quarter time. The Knights were undaunted, however, and fought back at the opening of the second round. Duane Warning, Bob Lichtenwalter and Skip Kruzich tallied to knock the foundations from under the Viking lead. With 5:17 showing Duane Warning canned two free tosses to tie the game 15-all. The rest of the Knights got into the scoring act within the next two minutes, and with 3:02 left the Knights had built an eight-point lead. Lincoln-Way was never caught, and breezed to a 73-58 win.

Skip Kruzich played his greatest game of the year, scoring nine field goals and 14 out of 15 throws for 32 points. The fourteen charities is a L-W record. Ed Didrickson was high man for Flossmoor, getting 16. Bob Lichtenwalter of Lincoln-Way was the defensive standout, holding Dave Maga of the Vikings to four points—all free throws. Maga has averaged over 15 per game most of the year.

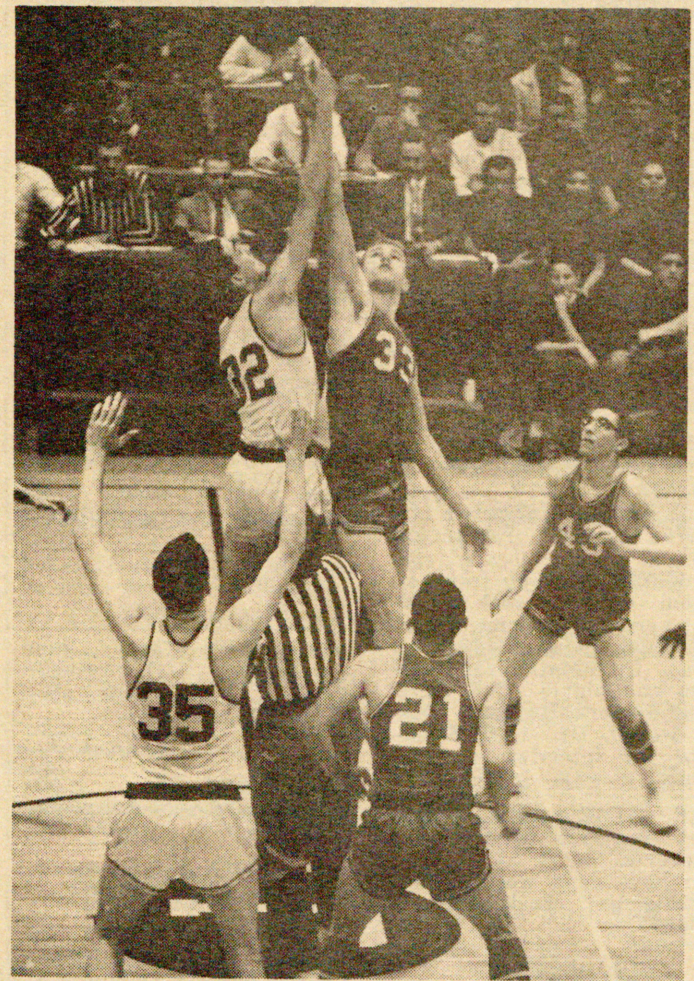

In Friday night's finale the top-seeded Bloom Trojans took on the Knights of Lincoln-Way for the championship. The end result was a thrilling, heart-rending, melodramatic 56-55 win for Bloom.

Lincoln-Way jumped into the lead in the first quarter. A long set shot by Bloom's Jim Dockery put the Trojans within two at the conclusion of the first lap, 15-13. Skip Kruzich scored four buckets during the opening minutes.

The second quarter was also very close. Lincoln-Way gained a slim 28-27 edge when, with one second showing on the board, Ron Yunker lofted in a 12-foot jump shot.

The tables were suddenly turned in the third quarter. Bloom outscored the Knights 11-6, enabling the Trojans to take a 38-31 bulge entering the final quarter.

The contest remained close, and the score was 43-41, Bloom on top, with 5:11 to go. At this time the Knights suffered a stinging setback in the loss of Duane Warning with his fifth foul. Within the next minute and a half the Trojans moved ahead 47-41 on a bucket by Tiberi and two gift shots by Ron Peyser. With 3:11 in lights Bob Lichtenwalter's 25-footer brought the Knights within four, but Al Waldvogel's inadvertent tip into the Bloom bucket with 3:02 left put Chicago Heights ahead 49-43. The bucket was credited to Dockery, who had been scrambling for a rebound with L-W's Waldvogel.

EVERY MOMENT HECTIC in the final game of the Joliet regional basketball tournament in which Lincoln-Way in a David role was pitted against the Goliaths of Bloom. Bloom managed to make those look good who forecast its victory but they had a narrow squeak since Bloom won by one point, 56-55. No. 43 is Bon Lichtenwalter, of Lincoln-Way, No. 21 is Ron Yunker and No. 33 who at the moment was going up is Duane Warning.

Lichtenwalter put the Knights within four again, netting a 30 footer from the head of the key. With 1:59 to go Ed Moore scored a layup and a free throw to give Bloom a seven-point lead, 52-45. An exchange of baskets by Skip Kruzich and Ralph Tiberi left Bloom atop a 54-47 advantage. But Bob Lichtenwalter and Skip Kruzich scored long baskets to bring the Knights within three points as 0:40 flashed by. 31 seconds showed when Ron Peyser bagged a layup for the Trojans.

There were 22 seconds on the board when Bob Lichtenwalter scored two free throws to make the score 56-53. A desperate press paid off for the red-and-black, as Lichtenwalter stole the ball and romped down the court for a layup, this with 13 seconds in the game. Again the Knights pressed. A long pass downcourt was stolen by Al Waldvogel, who passed it to Skip Kruzich at the halfway mark. Skip shot a 45-footer as the buzzer squawked. The shot fell just short of the rim and the timer's gun indicated that it was all over for the Knights, and that it would be the Bloom Trojans who would travel to the sectional tournament at Blue Island.

It was the end of a fine season and fine high school basketball careers for Duane Warning, John Kropp, Al Waldvogel, Skip Kruzich, and Bob THORNTON KEEPS ON GOING--Year after year Harvey high school is knocking at the door when it comes to state tournament time in Illinois prep circles so it is no wonder so many sports writers pick Harvey teams to come thru. Harvey won the regional last week and many pick it to cop the sectional at Blue Island this week. Sandburg fell before Harvey in its second tourney appearance last week. The Sandburg man jumping for the ball is Lance Roberts, No. 45 is Bill Gorney and out on the circle, wearing No. 23 on his dark jersey is Ron Lindgren.

Thornridge Upsets Bremen In Opening Regional Tilt

by JOE STRAIN

What was to have been an easy start in the Harvey regional tournament for the Bremen Braves turned out to be a surprise upset last Wednesday night. Thornridge who was in the process of a 15 game losing streak entered the battle at the Thornton (Harvey) gym in the role of underdog. However after the explosive second half a rejuvenated Falcon squad swept out to a decisive victory over the amazed and dejected Braves by a score of 73-66.

Dean Overman, a 6 ft senior and mainstay of the Falcons, started the action in the first quarter with three layups. From then on it was anyone's guess as to the outcome in this portion of the quarter at least. Bremen commanded the rebound situation the majority of the time. Thornridge was king at the charity stripe. Al Lussow and Rich Norbut of the Braves were proving their versatility in the art of the long jump shot by adding to the Braves total from the far sides of the court. The period ended with a 15-15 total on the Scoreboards.

Minutes after play resumed Rich Norbut started the second quarter off on the right road for the Braves with two well executed set shots from about 30 feet. This gave Bremen its widest margin of the game with a 23-19 lead. Fouls were being called on both teams and Thornridge was getting the best of that situation by showing superior results from the free throw line. The tide of battle was changing now and at the half the Falcons were within one point of another tie, Braves 32, Falcons 31.

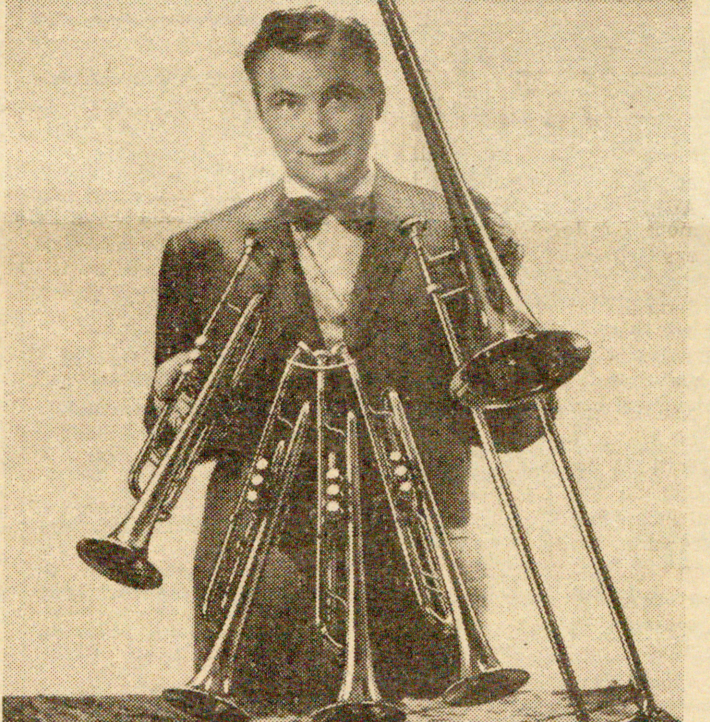

The start of the night was Overman of the Falcons who really started to set his course in the third period. Beforelong the Falcons had gained command by a respectable 41-35 lead. Bremen managed to close the lead to 51-42 at the end of the quarter but the handwriting was on the wall. The spectators saw a somewhat dazed Bremen squad attempt to shake off the results of the Falcons attack but for the moment nothing seemed to click for the Braves again and again the fouls added additional points for Thornridge. This quarter showed subs being sent in for both teams as fouls took their toll. At one point in the final quarter the Falcons held a 60-44 lead over the Braves who knowing their backs were against the wall pulled out all stops in a last ditch effort. Feeling were running high on the court and on occasion the play took on more of an aspect of wrestling bouts than seemed necessary.

In a series of markers by Lussow, Ragsdale, and Cornish, the Braves brought the score up to within eight points of the Falcon tally. In the last minutes of the game however, all hopes were dashed for Bremen as Thornridge netted six free throws to wrap it up.

Final score of the game Falcons 73... Braves 66.

High Scorer for the Braves was John Ragsdale with 20, while teammates Al Lussow and Rich Norbut contributed 11 markers apiece. Fifty-seven personal fouls were recorded in the game.

On the Falcon side of the ledger Dean Overman netted 22 points followed by Gene Voss with 14. Percentage wise the Falcons had an amazing .796 on free throws with a .425 from the field as against Bremens .667 and .428 respectively.

FRANKFORT BAND BOOSTERS, made up of parents and those interested in furthering the interests of the Frankfort grade school band, are sponsoring the appearance of Victor Hyde at 8 o'clock Sunday night in the school. Hyde, who plays a wide variety of instruments climaxes his act by playing four trumpets at the same time.

Eagles Bow To Thornton In Regional Tournament

Carl Sandberg's Eagles who just a year ago walked away with the regional title bowed-out last week-end with a 64-50 trouncing from Thornton.

The semi-final that was bugled to be a nip and tuck affair with Sandberg picked to squeeze out the win. Busch, Roberts and Lindgren tried and showed a lot of life at times, but the Eagles seemed to have lost the knack of working as a team. The smooth working machine that carried Sandberg through the season seemed to be trying to operate on a low octane fuel until the early minutes of the closing frame.

It was too late and too short a spurt. The Eagles defense couldn't keep the "Big Cat" Leon Clark, from grabbing rebound after rebound for a total of 18 points.

Pesky Al Denhart also ignored the usual efficient Eagle defense to free-wheel all evening and wound up with a total of 14 points.

The Eagles completely folded their wings mid-way in the final stanza and appeared to be just waiting for the final gun and the flight back to their nest on Rt. 45.

Knights Place 2 Men On All-Conference Cage Team

Lincoln-Way has two men on the Southwest Suburban all-conference basketball team, Duane Warning, as a forward, and Skip Kruzich, as a guard.

Lincoln-Way was the only school to have two players picked for the first team. The other members of the stellar aggregation are, Dave Maga, of Homewood-Flossmoor, a guard; Bill Marcodes, Reavis, center and John Ragsdale, Bremen, at the other forward.

Homewood - Flossmoor who shares the SWS cage title with Lincoln-Way placed two on the second team, Bucky Morris and Tom Swanson. Carl Sandburg also placed two men on the second team, Ron Lindgren and Duane Erickson and the other two members of the squad are Bill Yukich, of Evergreen Park and Lou Dassau, of Oak Lawn.

Incidentally Kruzich was top scorer in the regional tournament conducted at Joliet last week. He scored 25 baskets from the floor and lagged in 18

Attack By Bloom Youths Hospitalizes 4 From L-W

Five New Lenox youths were beaten Friday night following the basketball game between Lincoln-Way high school and Bloom of Chicago Heights at Joliet township high school.

Injured enough to require hospital treatment at Silver Cross were 19 year old Bernard Santeretti, 820 South Pine St. and his brother, Gerald, 17; Ronald Miller, 17 of 150 Ash St. and Bill Zelko, 17, of 127 East Wood St.

Bernard Santeretti suffered a fractured jaw while his brother had a fractured nose. Miller was struck in the eye. Also injured was a third Santeretti boy, Tony, 16 years old, who was kicked in the face.

Police officers, leaving the game, noticed the fight in progress near the JT boiler plant. Police said that six youths from Bloom, one wearing a cast on his arm, were fighting with the New Lenox boys. Police said the boy wearing the cast was using it as a weapon.

The Bloom youths fled when they saw police and remain unidentified. However a license number was turned over to police and is being checked out.

The New Lenox youths told Joliet police that they did not fight back when the Bloom boys attacked them, because they had been warned by Lincoln-Way school officials that fighting would not be tolerated.

Names Ebert To Planning Group

Harold Ebert, a carpenter, has been appointed to the Frankfort planning commission to fill out the unexpired term of the late Walter Harnack. The appointment was made by Mayor George Sangmeister and confirmed by the village board at its meeting this week.

Mokena C. Of C. Holds Annual Installation

Ninety people were in attendance at the annual banquet of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce Saturday March 4 at Silver Lake Country Club. Installation of officers and a progress report comprised the major portion of the program.

James Surovich who gave a progress report of the group's activities and introduced Charles Swanberg, master of ceremonies.

Surovich, pointed-out a few of the major projects completed by the chamber during the past year. The blinker light at the corner of Front and Mokena Streets was purchased and installed by the Chamber last Spring, the annual Fourth of July fireworks display in Community Park and the Christmas tree in the Rock Island Parking lot along with the decorations on Front Street and Wolf roads were mentioned by Surovich.

President, Will Tuttle asked the members to attend meetings regularly and take a more active part in civic affairs. Tuttle said that several projects are planned for this year and that permanent committees will be appointed at the next meeting.

Wayne Swanberg, at the organ, entertained during the festivities.

ANNUAL DINNER of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce was well attended this year. In the foreground is Wayne Swanberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanberg, organist, who provided music thruout the dinner.

Frankfort Board Modifies Plant Construction Setup

Discussion of zoning occupied most of the time of the Frankfort village board at its meeting Monday night.

Action taken recently requiring masonry construction for buildings erected on property zoned for light industry at the west end of Nebraska st. was modified at Monday's session. This clears the way for Hans Bader to proceed with plans for building a factory out of steel.

Bader operates Elcon, Inc. at Tinley Park, makers of electrical equipment. The present plant is no longer large enough it was explained.

Bader plans to erect a low profile, steel building with an ornamental front, meeting Frankfort's requirement that industrial plants must have architectural fronts, that they set back a certain number of feet from the property line, be landscaped and provide parking space.

Bader, who was accompanied to the meeting by Grant B. Geuther, acting as agent in the deal, said he was prepared to proceed now with plans and hoped to start construction soon.

The board explained that it did not intend to dictate choice of materials, but did intend to keep control over appearance and setting.

The steel Bader plans to use comes in colors for exterior walls. Sketches show the front of the building carries considerable glass. The building will be erected on a poured concrete foundation.

Olden & Jones, contractors who would build some duplex homes and remodel the former William Kampe residence into three apartments, appeared before the board to clarify a situation arising from their recent petition for reclassification of four lots, including the one with the Kampe home, from R 1 to R 3, or single to multiple family housing.

The zoning board of appeals reported recently that neither of the petitioners had appeared at the hearing nor had a representative there, so the board did not act on the petition. The contractors said they would have attended the hearing if they had been informed of the date. They told the village board they only wanted one of the lots zoned for multiple housing, the one with the Kampe home which they plan to make into three apartments. They plan duplexes for the other lots and according to village officials an R 3 classification is not needed for a duplex.

Village Attorney A. H. Kruesmark said Olden & Jones would have to have a hearing before the zoning board of appeals but it would not be necessary to file a new petition. They can amend the original at the hearing, he said. There was a misunderstanding over the size of dwellings that was also straightened out. It had been said previously a single family dwelling had to provide 1,600 square feet. The building code says 900 square feet. The 1,600 figure applies to lot size—1,600 square feet per family.

The library committee met for a few minutes with the board to discuss use of a village hall for a library. The remodeling would be done at the expense of the library advocates. They were advised to get help in drawing up plans for the undertaking.

Police Magistrate Herbert Folgers turned in a check for $465 covering fines collected in village cases for the month of February.

A resolution accepting the sewage disposal plant recently completed by Gaskill and Walton, contractors, was adopted by the village board.

Portions of Ash, LaPorte and California streets have been added to the motor fuel program now being set up by the village.

Work has been started on the building of Kansas st., at White. A house formerly blocked Kansas street at that end. Some of the work is being done thru motor fuel tax, a portion thru the general funds of the village.
